Positions regarding the Revision of the Greek Constitution

Following the hearing of recommendations by the Commission's members P. Fountedakis (30.11.2006), K. Botopoulos, I. Ktistakis (18.01.2007, 25.01.2007) and others, its Plenary Session, in view of the impending revision of a number of articles of the Greek Constitution, submitted its positions to the government and parliament with regards to: (a) The establishment of Constitutional Court (Art. 100); (b) The protection of the environment, particularly forestall areas (Art. 24 and 117); (c) Matters relating to religious freedom (Art. 3, 13, 33, 59); (d) The development of the personality, the avoidance of discrimination and the minimum guaranteed standards of decent living (Art. 5); (e) The abolition of the death penalty (Art. 7.3. b); (f) The issue of "property-indemnisation" (Art. 17); (f) The so-called "professional" incompatibility (Art. 57); and (g) parliamentary immunity (Art. 62).
